Help us to realize that all worthwhile endeavors demand discipline. Help us to impose it upon ourselves lest we have it enforced by others upon us.

Help us always to be sincere rather than sarcastic and to seek clarity rather than cleverness. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

REPORT OF INTERIM COMMITTEE

The following report of the Interim Committee on Governmental Reorganization and Efficiency was filed with the Secretary:

To: Senator Verle A. Pope, President
Florida State Senate

From: Senator George L. Hollahan, Jr.
Chairman, Governmental Reorganization
and Efficiency Committee

Date: April 11, 1967

This is a brief report of some of the activities of the Governmental Reorganization and Efficiency Committee from October 7, 1965, when the organizational meeting was held, until this date. The full committee has met on eight different occasions in Tallahassee (5), Jacksonville (1), Sarasota (1), and Orlando (1).

At its second meeting on November 5, 1965, the committee was divided into six subcommittees to study and make recommendations in six areas of work. It was felt that this method would permit sufficient time to do in depth studies in those areas undertaken and provide the basis for meaningful recommendations to the legislature which would result in better organization, more efficiency, and greater economy.

These six areas of study are:

- (1) Electronic data processing equipment and records management
- (2) Business regulation
- (3) Procedures & functions of state purchasing
- (4) Construction of buildings and capital improvements
- (5) Ownership, use & disposition of state lands
- (6) State motor pool.

The six subcommittees held a total of 29 meetings in Tallahassee (19), Orlando (2), Sarasota (3), Miami Beach (1), Miami (2), St. Augustine (1), and Tampa (1).

The following comments are made about the six areas of study.

Area #1 — Electronic data processing and records management. The committee has worked extensively and in depth in this area and will have three bills to recommend to the legislature. One is an act creating the Florida Board of Archives and History which will for the first time give Florida a comprehensive and unified program for archives and history and a division for the institution of a modern records management program. The act will consolidate the total activities of the present Board of Antiquities, the archival and records management responsibilities presently assigned to the Florida Library and Historical Commission and the historical monuments, markers and sites, responsibilities presently assigned to the Florida Board of Parks and Historical Memorials. Another proposal in this area is an act relating to public records which briefly does two things: (A) Puts all the laws relating to public records in one place in the statutes and gives definitions to some terms presently defined only by an attorney general's opinion and other decisions and/or some law, and (B) provides the basis for establishment of the records management division under the Florida Board of Archives and History. This records management program can save the State of Florida a great deal of money by reducing the costs for storing and housing all semicurrent records from about $4½ per cubic foot per year to about 40 or 45 cents per cubic foot by using a records center for this type records storage. It will also provide a more efficient and economical program for maintaining and disposing of current records while at the same time assuring us that we will preserve in our archives all those records which merit this treatment. Another recommendation in this area deals with electronic data processing, and the committee will have a bill on this subject. This proposal would provide a program to achieve the most efficient and economical operation of data processing equipment and services in state government. This will require a consolidation of existing automatic data processing installations and the consolidation of all data processing system development, according to a well defined and reasonable plan for achieving these objectives.

Area #2 — Business Regulation. This subcommittee has been involved in a study of the means by which we can eliminate duplication of inspectional responsibilities and also in a rather exhaustive study of the 27 various licensing and examining boards. Three of the bills provide a means for eliminating the existing duplication of inspectional responsibilities relating to food service establishments between the State Board of Health and the Hotel and Restaurant Commission and the duplication of inspectional responsibilities between the State Board of Health and the Department of Agriculture, as they relate to retail grocery stores. The other acts deal with the twenty-seven licensing and examining boards and are aimed at improving efficiency in the administration of these boards. A series of four of these bills will remove the requirement that applicants for examination for medical doctor, osteopathic physician, and chiropractors shall present a certificate showing certification of proficiency in the basic sciences. These basic science examinations are presently administered by the Florida Board of Basic Science Examiners and would transfer the responsibility for licensing medical technologists from the Board of Basic Science Examiners to the State Board of Health, resulting in the abolition of the Florida Board of Basic Science Examiners. A series of five of these bills will abolish the agency trust funds for the licensing and examining boards and commissions and create in their place an operating fund for each of these boards and commissions into which fund would go all receipts and out of which fund would be paid all appropriations. They further provide that at the end of each fiscal year all funds in each of the operating funds in excess of the prior fiscal year's operating budget shall be transferred to the general revenue fund. This would prevent the accumulation of large amounts of cash in the agency trust funds. Another act we will present will abolish the Florida Watchmakers Commission, while still another in this area will require evidence of continuing study on the part of dentists as a prerequisite to the annual renewal of their licenses. Probably one of the most important bills in this area of our study is the bill which will restructure the Florida Installment Land Sales Board and closes the loophole which allowed those operating under a mortgage and deed to escape the jurisdiction of the law. Another very important change is that in our committees proposed revision the power to provide adequate safeguards is related to the land instead of to advertising, and the registration requirement of the act requires that the land be registered rather than the advertising. There is a provision in the proposed bill stating that the new Land Sales Commission shall consist of four members who have absolutely no connection with the land sales industry and one member from the land sales industry. We feel this proposal will provide the State of Florida with a legislative vehicle which will eliminate the loopholes and the inadequacies of the existing Land Sales Act and at the same time provide effective and fair regulation of an industry that most definitely needs regulation.

Area #3 — Procedures and functions of state purchasing. The committee has worked in depth in this area, and many of its recommendations have already been adopted by the Purchasing Commission and put into effect with resulting economies and improved efficiency in state purchasing. However, the basic question to be resolved is the decision by the legislature on what the Purchasing Commission of Florida should be — whether it should be as it presently is, a supervisory agency under the cabinet, or whether, in fact, it should be a purchasing commission for the State of Florida. There is some argument by the lawyers as to whether the present law gives the Purchasing Commission the power to, in fact, institute a central purchasing activity for the state. The committee will recommend a bill which completely reorganizes the Florida Purchasing Commission as far as its responsibilities, powers, and duties are concerned. The Purchasing Commission would remain as the cabinet, but their powers, duties, and responsibilities would be to institute for Florida a central purchasing activity. This act is patterned basically along lines with the philosophy used by the Brookings Institute, a private economics research organization, when they framed the language of the North Carolina purchasing statute in 1931. Many of our states have patterned their purchasing statute after this philosophy, and all of those which we examined had achieved a successful program under it. As you know, in the business community today industry sees purchasing as the untapped profit center, and it is the opinion of the committee that government needs to move in this area in order to obtain better quality, least waste, and lower prices.

All of these objectives are attainable in the opinion of the committee. Of course, their realization requires not only more skillful buying, but more effective management of equipment, materials, and supplies.

Area #4 — Construction of buildings and capital improvements. This study has been basically in three parts. One related to the procedures by which our capital improvements and buildings were funded and the methods used to administer those funds in achieving the building or improvement. Another was the inventory of all state-owned buildings and an inquiry into their management and maintenance, as well as the allocation of space. Still another area was an inquiry into the practices being followed in the leasing of buildings and space for state purposes, and particularly the practices involved in executing lease purchase agreements for space and buildings. In the course of this, we ascertained all of the space being leased by the state agencies, its location, size, cost, cost of maintenance, term of lease, etc. The committee will recommend an act which proposes to create in the Board of Commissioners of State Institutions a Department of Property Control which will give some unity and control to the acquisition of buildings for the state whether by construction, lease or lease purchase arrangements, as well as some long-range planning for establishing procedures which will more efficiently and economically meet the needs of the state for its ever-increasing need for office buildings and office space. The adoption of our recommendations would, in the opinion of the committee, improve tremendously the procedures we use in leasing space in buildings and in leasing buildings and in acquiring buildings under a lease purchase agreement.

Area #5 — Ownership, use & disposition of state lands. The committee has worked on the problem of developing recommendations which would create the most efficient and economical method for acquiring, managing and disposing of state lands, and which would insure the development of a statewide plan for achieving the maximum use of our present lands and for preserving for our posterity the public lands which are going to be required for their use and pleasure. In the development of this study, it was necessary for the committee to inventory all state-owned lands, and this inventory was sufficiently comprehensive to provide a basis for beginning the formulation of an acceptable policy regarding state lands and a continuation of an inventory. The committee will recommend in this connection two proposals. One is an act which enlarges the trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund from five to seven members of the cabinet, will give to these trustees responsibility, powers and duties in connection with acquiring, managing and disposing of all state lands. The second act deals with submerged lands, and basically amends the present law to require that before the trustees can sell submerged lands they must have a written report from the Board of Conservation, which report shall state whether or not the development of said lands would be detrimental to established conservation practices and must have a written report from the Outdoor Recreation Planning Committee confirming that the sale of said submerged land does not conflict with the acquisition and development of public lands for recreational purposes, and that the submerged lands have no practical value or use in the planning of state-owned outdoor recreational facilities or properties. This bill further requires that the trustees shall not sell, transfer or otherwise dispose of any lands except by affirmative vote of at least five of the seven trustees.

Area #6 — State motor pool. The committee was late in beginning this study and has considerable information resulting from a survey of the state agencies regarding their practices in procuring and maintaining and disposing of vehicles, as well as a survey conducted in connection with state-owned aircraft. This study is continuing, and holds promise of producing recommendations which will result in great savings to the state in the purchasing, maintenance, operation, and disposal of our vehicles and aircraft.
